Email remains the #1 attack vector for cybercriminals, but the attack surface is expanding

41%
have experienced more email-based threats in the past 12 months

38%
see the growing sophistication of these attacks as their biggest email security challenge in 2024

32%
said that by themselves, the M365 security apps can't block BEC and spoofing attacks

The emergence of generative AI is accelerating email-based threats

80%
of respondents are concerned about new threats posed by AI

Bad actors are taking advantage of the rapid spread and growing reliance on collaborative software

70%
say collaboration tools pose urgent new threats

69%
think it is likely, extremely likely or even inevitable that their company will be harmed by a collaboration tool-based attack

WORK PROTECTED
mimecast

Human Risk & AI
The State of Email & Collaboration Security Report 2024

The State of Email & Collaboration Security Report

DOWNLOAD NOW